In this essay I am going to compare the similarities and differences between two poems. "Woman Work" written by Maya Angelou, which is about a Woman who works all the time and just wants to rest. The second poem is called "overheard in County Sligo" written by Gillian Clarke which is about a married Woman having a conversation with her friend about her life and looking back at what her ambitions were.

"Woman Work" is a regular 5 stanza, rhyming poem, it is set in southern USA. We know this because of the way she talks "The cane to be cut" Cane is grown in southern USA, "I gotta clean up this hut" Hut is what she calls her house "And the cotton to Pick" cotton also grows in USA. It's about this woman who's either single or doesn't get any help from her partner/husband. She's always doing something, looking after the children - "I've got the children to tend", housework - "I gotta clean up this hut", shopping - "The food to shop" or farm work, - "The cane to be cut", "And the cotton to pick".

"Overheard in County Sligo" is another regular 5 stanza, rhyming poem. It is set in Ireland. It is about a married Woman who "married a man from county Roscommon" and she's talking about what her ambitions were - "I had thought to Work on the Abbey Stage" "or have my name in a book". It doesn't sound like she's happy but she won't leave - "the freedom's there for the taking" but she never went.

There are several themes in "Woman Work", one of them being Work. We can see this in the first stanza. She lists all the things she's got to do. Another theme being loneliness. We can see this by the fact that she only mentions her children there; she may want someone to talk to her or help her with all her Work. Mainly she just wants a rest.

The theme in "Overheard in county Sligo" is basically life, it's all about a Woman having a conversation with a friend or someone she knows and someone else just happened to be listening. The housewife is telling her friend about herself, and the fact that she wanted to leave her life but she never did. "the freedom's there for the
